Foreword

It has been rightly said: "Books are the carriers of civilization. Without books, history is silent, literature dumb, science crippled, thought and speculation at a standstill." What better and lasting testimony to mark the Sesquicentennial year of our beloved mother institution, the University of Madras, than the publication of 30 commemorative volumes!

It is an honour and a privilege to pen the Foreword to these volumes submitted by the Faculty of the University of Madras and the affiliated institutions. Keeping in mind that these issues are a lasting memento to the 150 year dedication of our Institution to excellence in Higher education and research, the books have been chosen based on their innovative approach, qualinty of research and skilful style.

Apart from marking an important landmark in the progress of our great institution, it is hoped, that these volumes will be a truly significant contribution to the academic ethos of our nation.

I thank the academic fraternity and our partners and collaborators for their cooperation and I congratulate the authors and all those who contributed to ensure that the commemorative volumes are released at the Valedictory of the Sesquicentennial celebrations of the University of Madras on October 9, 2007.

A lot of water has passed under the bridge since that wonderful day on September 5, 1857 when the University of Madras came into existence. It is heartening for all of us to think that the best is yet to be.

With warm regards and best wishes

S. RAMACHANDRAN

PREFACE

The New Catalogus Catalogorum is a unique project undertaken by the Department of Sanskrit, University of Madras since 1937. It is an encyclopedic work about Manuscripts of Sanskrit and Allied works available in India and abroad. It provides information about any text in Sanskrit, Pali or Prakrt, available anywhere in any form. In short, it is a catalogue of catalogues or a Union Catalogue of Manuscripts in the above languages.

A key to Indological Research, it caters to the needs of scholars around the globe. Moreover, it is the storehouse of information, regarding hidden treasures of Indian culture and heritage. Against this background, the project was supported by the U.G.C during the fourth and fifth Five Year Plans. Also international funding agencies like Rockfeller Foundation extended their support for this work, during the early stages. Though more than six decades have elapsed, the work still continues.

Against so many odds, and ups and downs it has continued with the sole patronage of the Govt. of Tamilnadu, through the University of Madras.

Since this is eagerly awaited and heavily demanded by the Indologists all over the world, it was felt that, it needs to be completed expeditely. Hence the Department of Sanskrit took the initiative of approaching the Department of Culture, Govt. of India, which took a Prospective view of this and came forward to extend financial support to this project under the newly formed National Mission for Manuscripts, Indra Gandhi National Centre for under 10th five year plan. Momentum gained only when the 15th volume was released in the 12th World Sanskrit Conference (WSC) held at New Delhi in April 2001, by His Excellency, the former President of India, Shri. R. Venkatraman.

WSC gave a unique opportunity for us to interact with both National and International scholars in Indology, during which time suggestions came for updating the NCC with many more published catalogues during the 20th century. The Department of Sanskrit under the auspices of its Platinum Jubilee celebrations undertook the task of updating, by adding catalogues published till date.

It is a happy moment for all of us to place the revised version of 15th volume before the scholars.

E IMPORTANCE OF THE VOLUME:

Since this volume contains the letter 'bra to bha' (from Brahmasūtra to Bhaṅgura), it viously deals with some of the most important entries like Brahmasūtra and Bhagavadgītā. re care has been taken to decide entries regarding commentaries, sub-commentaries, per-commentaries and their schools. All the entries have been arranged in a chronological ler. Utmost care has been taken to study the colophons (whenever they are found) and decide schools of the commentaries.

Based on the nature of the commentaries, the schools have been named for the sake of rity. Hence Bhagavadgītā, the most popular and also the most widely read text, translated many languages of the world is presented with details regarding numerous copies of nuscripts and also printed references about it. We have tried our best to provide the printed erences of the Sanskrit commentaries and also references about other Indian languages ailable on hand.

The volume gives the references on the Brahmāṇḍapurāṇa, which is a repository of tras, vratas, etc. Māhātmyas and Vratakathās belonging to Brahmāṇḍapurāṇa, have been anged in an alphabetical order. As it is very likely that some of the vratas and vratakathās, jās and pūjāvidhis, stavas and stotras are same, they have been clubbed together. But at me places, depending upon the colophons available, they have been given as independent tries.

Entries like Bhakti and Bhagavad bhakti have been clubbed together as far as catalogue ferences are concerned. Most of the entries have been cross-checked with the previous volumes NCC and new references are given as 'Addl.mss (Additional manuscripts)'. Considering the portance of chrono-logy, certain entries like Bhāmatī, Pañcapādikā etc., have been taken nder Brahmasūtra-Śaṅkara-Bhāṣya, though most scholars take these commentaries as dependent texts.

It was difficult to fix if some works related to Brahmasūtra and Bhagavadgītā, were mmentaries, or independent texts based on them. Depending upon the references these ave been taken as commentaries and schools are specified. In all other aspects the earlier ethod has been followed.

Another noteworthy feature of the volume is that instead of mentioning NCC Volume numbers for oss-references, we have given the entries under which the scholars have to refer for their convenience.

We take this opportunity to record our sense of gratitude to Professor S. Ramachandran, Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor of the University of Madras for his continuous support and encouragement for reviving this project and kindness to write Foreword for this volume, which is published under the auspicious occasion of 150th year celebration of University of Madras. We equally express our grateful thanks to Govt. of India in general and Dept. of Culture in particular for accepting this mega project under the scheme of National Mission for Manuscripts which helped us a lot to achieve the goal of completion of this volume.

It is our bounden duty to place on record the encouragement and inspirations provided by foreign Indologists like Professor Sheldon Pollock and Professor Nye, University of Chicago, Professor Dominique Wuzastik, Wellcome Institute of London, Professor Carin Presendiz, University of Austria, Vienna and Indian scholars like Dr. Kapila Vatsyayana, Professor Ramkaran Sarma, Professor V. Kutumba Sastry, Professor K. K. Raja, Professor K. V. Sharma and Professor N. Gangadharan.

We thank the members of the Monitoring Committee consisting of Dr. Siniruddha Dash, Director, NCC Project, Dr. V.K.S.N. Raghavan, Professor and Head, Department of Vaishnavism, University of Madras, Dr. C.G. Rajendra Babu, Professor and Head, Department of Malayalam, University of Madras, Dr. P. Narasimhan, Senior Lecturer in Department of Sanskrit, University of Madras and Dr. Sudha Gopalakrishnan, Director, National Mission for Manuscripts, Department of Culture, Government of India.

We thank the Editorial Staff of the Department comprising, Professor S. Meera, Professor S. Revathy, Professor S. Padmanabhan, Dr. P. Narasimhan, Senior Lecturer, Dr. C. Murugan, Lecturer and Dr. M. Visalakshi, Research Assistant (Retd).

We are also thankful to the Editorial staff working under Mission Grants comprising of Associate Editors: Dr. C.S. Sundaram, Dr. M. Narasimhachary and Dr. Mamata Mishra; Assistant Editor: Sri N. Srinivasan; Editorial Assistants: Dr. Rajalakshmi Srinivasan, Dr. Gayathri Preetha, Ms. Na. Bhuvaneswari, Ms. Uma Maheswari, Ms. R. Subhashini, Ms. Girija Eashwaran, Ms. V. Anusha, Mr. S. Raja and Ms. Sunita Maharana; Project Assistant: Ms. Suranjana Chaudhury and Computer Assistants Ms. R. Brindha, Ms. S. Vidyasahari and Mr. S. Tamilarasan.

Last but not the least we express our thankfulness to the non-teaching staff of our Department for their kind co-operation.

ब्रह्माण्डपुराण one of the eighteen Purāṇas; acc. to the Kūrmapurāṇa it was proclaimed by Vāyu glorifying the Brahmāṇḍa; the original work may be an earlier version of the Vāyupurāṇa. Acc. to Matsyapurāṇa, this work was proclaimed by Brahman and it consists of 12,200 verses glorifying the cosmic egg giving an account of the future Kalpas. Apart from the text some mss. of this work contain only Māhātmyas, Stotras and Upākhyānas forming parts of this Purāṇa.
